A Collector Sustained.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1.—The Treasury Department has sustained the action of the Collector of Customs at Corpus Christi, Tex., in assessing duty at the rate of 10 cents per Department has sustained the action of the Collector of Customs at Corpus Christi, Tex., in assessing duty at the rate of 10 cents per pound on certain wool imported at Laredo and classified as wool, class 1, costing under 30 cents per pound. The importer appealed from the decision and claimed that the wool in question is carpet wool or wool of the third class, valued at less than 12 cents per pound. An examination of the wool showed it to be composed of a very poor quality of Mexican wool mixed with first-class merino wool. The proportion of merino wool being 24 per cent, and that while the presence of wool of the first-class renders the importation liable to the duty assessed, it is believed to be unjust to assess that rate on such poor material. The department decides that the wool in its present mixed geomation is liable to duty at the rate assessed, but authorizes the Collector to have importations of this character sorted for purposes of correct classification and to assess duty on the respective quantities of wool of the several classes, which course may be followed in the present case, provided the merchandise remains in the custody of the Collector.

his opening address to the jury. The prisoner, who sat beside his keepers, was cheered by the presence of ex-Senator B. B. Paddock of Fort Worth, Tex., an old friend, who guarantees the good character of Holland and who came on here purposely to assist him in the trial. Holland seems to lack neither friends nor money and the former are confident of acquittal. District Attorney Martine, in his opening address, said there seemed to be a feeling between the States of Texas and New York about this case, but he could not see what pride the Texans could take in a man who came here to obtain counterfeit money with which to defraud his neighbors. He did not propose to say that Davis was other than he was, or that his brother "The" was any better, but under the law the blackest villain was entitled to protection, and his life was as sacred as that of the most honored in the country. Counsel then described the shooting. Tom Davis, he said, was dead and his lips were sealed. The prisoner was here, and the only other witness was Theodore Davis. The rooms where the tragedy occurred were still in the same condition for the inspection of the jury.

Assembly. But few changes are made in the assessment and taxation of real and personal property. All crops grown upon land on which the taxes have been paid are exempt while in possession of the producer. In the method of assessing, Township Assessors are abolished and the work given to a county officer, who will hold his office for four years, and is made ineligible for re-election in order to remove temptation to favoritism. Land is to be platted in small assessing districts, as now done in this city, and four assessments made on the face of these plats are in the ordinary Assessors's books, so that an owner can see at a glance the value placed upon his own and his neighbor's land. The taxes from public corporations are to be paid directly into the State from all local and municipal taxation for merely State Board of Equalization which, it is alleged, has corruptly guilding to the actual value of the principal offices are located and upon the vigation of their franchise. But few changes are made in the assessment and taxation of real and Mr. Anthony states that he tendered his resignation to Sheriff Ropiequet, and Mr. William entire capacity. A scene of tumult ensued. The few Socialists insisted ensued. The few Socialists insisted that the man should be heard, while the greater number present were equally as vehement of their ories of "Throw them out." To add to the confusion hundreds engaged in the discussion at the same time, shouting at the top of their voices, and several of the more outspoxen Socialists were picked up bodily and hustled to the open air. Securing quiet for an instant, the presiding officer declared the meeting adjourned, and called upon the tanners to retire. Representative Knights of Labor are supported by all the members of the order in the sentiment that anarchists are not wanted among them, and they are determined that at future meetings the anarchists shall not be tolerated.

Dissatisfaction Expressed With Railroad Business and Declines Expected in Stocks.

Special to L. G. McNair.

New York, March 1.—One of the bull leaders said yesterday: "We have no stocks to seil and are holding stocks for a long pull, six months or a year or two years hence." Parties having facilities for inside information in regard to Trunk line matters bought Lake shore Saturday on the information that the Trunk lines were not likely to prorate on the Transcontinental cut. The views current this morning conflict. Traders as a rule are bearish, but find no one to help them to get prices down, despite the unfavorable news. There are bull points on the Pacific Mail based on short interest and that all has been done that can be to hurt the company. There is a suspicion that the Huntington people are buying the stock to capture the company at the next election in May. ing out the previous reports about the dam. age. Mr. Clark has just returned from a seven hundred mile trip in Dakota, and he says over 20 per cent of the farmers will have to buy seed and that the elevator men on the lines of railroads say they will sell more wheat from this time out than they will buy. Then when we think that we have got to feed 60,000,000 of people for at least five months out of the surplus of a small crop, it looks as though it was about cheap enough. Stanffer was a seller at the opening, but as he is a sore of a "stool-pigeon" the boys thought others might be buying and coppered him. Fleming & Boyden had good buying orders if the market broke any, so they were using their influence to help it. The shortage in March helped to sustain the market and the difference to May is only 4%c. At 84%c Sid Kent put brokers in to sell. Then the report that $100,000 in gold had been exported broke the market to $4½c and it closed steady, with that bid. Nightingale's private cable, just in, is 6d lower.

The only pistol I have had for years was at 8-calibre American bull-dog, and I lest that at the house when I went away in order that the females might have some protection against Hawkins or tramps. The testimony of Peter Hawkins at the inquest was false from beginning to end; no such conversation occurred between my wife and I when I knocked for admission, and if there had been, Hawkins could not have heard it as he slept in an abandoned granary, which faced east, and was fifty feet from the east line of the main house, while I knocked at the west window for admission.

Having went to town after the boys, I got Sarah's trunk from the 'Frisco depot and took it to the room at Fay's. I there opened it and removed everything except Sarah's clothing and that which was her own personal property, and left the trunk at Fay's for about five weeks. I then took it to Mr. Plumb's house and stored it in the upper room of the Congregational Church, as he has 'estified.'

room of the Congregational Church, as he has testified.

I wish to reiterate in the most emphatic manner the entire and complete innocence of the slightest connection in any way with this matter of Core E. Graham. This loving, trusting girl has remained firm and steadfast in her love and devotion to me through all this terrible affair and it is on her account more than any other that the confession is made. She is the one thoroughly good, pure woman who has come into my life, and whatever of home I have ever had has been

I have considered that after all the tesmony at the inquest there was still a fighting chance on a plea of not guilty. But when my fighting the case jeopardizes one far dearer than my own life I cannot but abandon the fight.

fighting the case jeopardizes one far dearer than my own life I cannot but abandon the fight.

To her I commend the care of my dear children, who are as near to me as any father's children are. She, by my request, is their guardian, and I would ask, gentlemen, that they are not sent away from her against their inclination. She loves them and they her.

My statement in reference to Mrs. Emma Molloy is made entirely with a view to doing justice to that lady. She has long been a very near and dear friend, and I have abused and mistreated her confidence shamefully.

For myself, I have nothing to ask; through parental neglect in early years I started life wrong and have never had stamina sufficient to steadily keep in the right track. The mistakes, errors, worries and crimes of my life are nearly over. With me and the future a hopeless blank, a leap in the dark. May God have more mercy on me than I have ever had on myself. I make the foregoing statement with a full recognition of all it imports. It has not been frightened out of me by any idea of mob violence—I think Sheriff Donnell will tell you that I don't scare—nor by any promise or hope of reward other than I can claim legally. The only motive, as I have said, is that the proceedings may be shortened, and that justice, at any cost to myself, may be done two women whose love and friendship for me have well nigh proved their ruin.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT TO HAVE TWO MORE ASSISTANT CHIEFS.

THE CITY HALL.

James M. Sullivan of the House of Delegat will introduce a bill at the meeting of the House to-morrow evening providing for the increase of the the number of assistant niefs in the Fire Department by two. The bill says that the two new assistants shall have had at least three years' experience in the department and that for their services they hall receive an annual salary of $1,800. "I'm coing to introduce this bill," said Mr. Sullian, "because I think that the department eally needs it. At present we have here but five assistant chiefs, whereas every other city in the country that other city in the country thas amounts to anything has six and seven and some of them even more than that. I've been studying up this business a great deal and any man that wants to watch how fires are handled and see the vacant spots where two first-class men, or more even, could come in right handy, can see that I'm right about it." The bill is in the shape of an amendatory ordinance, regulating the duties of the members of the Fire Department.

Jailor Siegmund made his monthly report t suit against the board in the Court of Appeals whereby Campbell was reinstated on a writ of certiorari. The board appealed the decision, and the above telegramlisthe result. Campbell was subsequently removed legally, but this decision gives him a right to his salary up to the time of this second removal, a period of about three weeks.

The decision is important, inasmuch as it decides that the Police Board cannot remove a police officer without a trial.

Terible Suffering of the Crews of Seows Off the Point of Coney Island.

New York, March 1.—The crews of the Rows reported to be in distress off the point of Coney Island on Saturday night were taken off by the tug Zouave and brought up to quarantine yesterday. The men showed the fleets of their terrible exposure. They were has helpless condition, and had to be litted bodily on to the Zouave. They told a pitiful story. They said that since Friday night they had been clinging to the beams of the scows, without food or water, suffering intensely from the extreme cold, and expecting every minute to be swept overboard by the sea, which was continually breaking over them. All day Sat urday they had looked for some vessel which would take them from their perilous position, but none appeared. peace of the quiet hamlet. The most despicable piece of business has been the publication, in a Sunday paper, of a marriage that never took place. This caused no end of annoyance to an estimable lady who thinks and very justly, that this is carrying joking a little too far. Some ladies received letters saying that three men living in the place, who were named, would call at a certain time. As it was well understood that the epistles came from those who were engaged in making mischief, they failed to produce their intended effect. One letter was sent that was evidentily intended to make trouble, as the name of a well-known and highly respected gentleman was signed to it. As it was impossible for him to have written such a letter, this also failed to have its effect. This comes under the head of forgery and the writer could be severely punished. All in all, Soho has had a surfeit of excitement and its citizens have resolved themselves into a detective association in order to find the authors of the scurrious letters.

Capt. Ponlett's Marriage to Beautiful Eliza-beth Newman in Defiance of His Aristo-cratic Relations—The Devoted Young Wife Finally Cast Aside-The Viscount's Prank

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Viscount Hinton, NEW YORK, March 1.—Viscount Hinton, who was recently committed for trial in England on a charge of obtaining goods by fraud, as related yesterday in the cable dispatches, has a strange and romantic history. On June 23, 1849, Capt. Poulett, nephew and heir presumptive of the Earl of Poulett, was married at Portsea, Eng., to a beautiful young girl named Elizabeth Newman. Capt. Poulett at that time was looked on as one of the promising aristocrats of his day; he was good looking aristocrats of his day; he was good looking, wealthy and a favorite in society. At though not aristocratic parentage, the attachment eventually resulting in marthough not aristocratic parentage, the attachment eventually resulting in marriage, as stated. Naturally, young Poulett's this mingling of the blue blood of the ancient tors and, in fact, all the Pacific coast Senators Pouletts with that of the comparatively plebe-ian Newmans, and he was given the cold road interests. There are a number of propo ing stock. However, the earl has recently had his turn at the willow, for the young viscount was lately arrested for obtaining goods under false pretenses. Some say that it is merely a question of being unable to pay, but the earl refused to settle the claims and the viscount has gone to sail and will eventually be tried for fraud, and according to Burke, the earl, September 29, 1871, married Emma Sophia Johnson, who died September 16, 1876. The Poulett family is a branch of the family of Poulett, Marquises of Winchester, who derive their surname from the lordship of Faulett in Somersetshire, whereof its progenitor, Hercules, Lord of Tournon, in Picaldy, became proprietor on settling in England in the reign of Henry I.

Ry Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1.—Senator Beck may not agree with the President on silver, but he is with him in his controversy with the but he is with him in his controversy with the Senate. The President's refusal to give up the papers for which the Senate is asking is, he thinks, a matter of policy and not of right. "These papers." he said, "are not on file. No paper is on file for which the law does not provide a place. Can the President destroy these papers if he wishes? That is the best test as to his rights. The President test as to his rights. The President cannot destroy any paper which is on file in any of the departments without rendering himself liable to punishment under the law. Suppose he should take all these papers relating to removals and make a bondire, could any one stop him or punish him? They could not. Then these papers are not on file, and the Senate has no right to them. No one has a right to them but the persons who wrote them. If the President wishes he can put a card in the papers to-morrow announcing that he will return all these papers to their writers. No one could prevent his doing so. The Senate could not make the papers tell what was in them, and the Senate has no right to these papers. The law says the President may remove in his discretion. These papers concern only that act of removal. Whether the President abandoned that right of removal in his letter to Curtis, is a question of policy. As a matter of right, the Senate is not entitled to these papers.

Mr. Edmunds could bring his men together—that is, unless he got, them into a hot discussion. There were some independent men upon that side of that chamber, Bowen and Cameron among them, who spoke right out and said what they thight, and they were not going to allow themselves to be led into any technicalities by Edmunds. they meet. They are taught that this is a land of injustice; that the American people think no more of hanging a man than of hanging a chicken. They are told that the padrone is a sort of grand marshal who has power from the Pope, from the King of Italy and from the President of the United States. If they do not do as he tells them they must feel the whip—yee, strong men and women—and they are told if they rebel they will be thrown into prison for life or be hung. The padrone is a great man in their eyes. He comes to them in Italy, with a big diamond on his finger, gold pins and chains. He tells them he picked all these up that they, too, can find them there. It is an Eden to them. As soon as they land at Castle Garden, though, they are nurried into Mulberry street and thrown into tenement houses, sometimes as many as fifty in a room. Then they are sent out to beg, to steal, to work on the railroads. They never get any money for their work. It is all paid to the padrone. I saw one Catholic priest, "continued the senor, "at Morrisiana, in New York, showeling dirt on the railroad. He had one loaf of bread in the morning, with a cup of thin coffee, and one loaf of bread in the morning, with a cup of thin coffee, and one loaf of bread in the evening, and he slept in a shanty. I asked him how he came there. He said the padrone had come to him in Italy and promised he should be made a bishop of a diocese of Italians, Spaniards and Frenchmen. Through him he persuaded others to come to this country. When they came here they were put to work on the railroads. I asked him why he submitted. He said if he did not he thought he would be killed. I laughed at him. It old him I thought a priest would know better than that. The Italian consuls are used to be gare their children. Then the law is satisfied."
